Disclaimer:

This forecast is real. A person would still be an idiot to make decisions based solely on their interpretation of my interpretation of strange data patterns. Universe rewards thinking. Everyone should try it for themselves at least once. Now would be a good time.

Meta Arts – New format

Given the currently manifesting economic and environmental conditions, we thought to alter the nature of these reports. Increase costs pressure us to raise price, just as immediacy and shorter term value sets balloon all to hell and gone, demanding more time. Our response has been to alter the report format as follows: for 2/two issues (this being the first) we will concentrate on immediacy and shorter term value sets, mostly ignoring all the longer term accretion patterns. Then a third issue will be produced that is mostly an interpretation of the longer term values thus far accumulated. Make sense? 2/two shorts and 1/one long. Note that this process will reduce the size of each of the reports from our usual 60+ pages.

Some of the reasons for this decision will become apparent as this report is digested.

Meta Data – Sticky and Icky

The emergence of the forecast [oil volcano] language associated with [nuclear explosions] which I had wrongly assumed {ed note: damn monkey mind again} would be initiated by the [israeli mistake] has significantly altered the linguistic landscape within modelspace. Just as the actual manifestation of the forecast language as an [oil volcano] has [transformed] the [oceanic environment] through the 'Blue Flue' {ed see Shape v0i4}, the event has rapidly [transformed] the linguistic landscape within modelspace. It was mere coincidence {ed note: yeah, right} that I had Igor running the spyders over the months of March and April, and that we caught the change in the language that manifested in such a way as to fulfill the forecast increase in emotional tension. This led to the forecast of yet further change on May 6th, which also transpired as was indicated by modelspace.

NOTE: I was wrong to connect the [israeli mistake] as the cause of the [oil volcano]. As it is now manifesting, the [oil volcano] is obviously first, and even though the language associating the [nuclear option] to the [oil volcano] in the Gulf does fulfill part of the [israeli mistake (with *nukes) creating an oil volcano in the other Gulf] language, not enough to take that forecast off the report. It may yet materialize that the [israeli mistake] was merely temporally associated with the [Gulf of Mexico oil volcano], and that it was merely monkey mind having a fit that induced me to connect these as cause and effect. But now we know. See the scenario planning discussion at the end of this report for more expeditions with monkey mind.

Within the time since the last issue of the Shape report, we now can note a very large shift of the [draft (military)] language previously forecast. This language is now shifting under the [oil volcano disaster] language sub set. So where we had forecast a [draft] for [boosting human power] within the [usofa military], we now will likely see similar language about the [usofa military] only with different focus. {ed note: see Populace/USofA below.}

As we continue the exploration of the data specific waves of accretion patterns suggest the pattern of a day of release language followed by a day of building tension language will dominate omnihumanity from July 11th through November 8th of this year. This is to say that July 11th marks the first of the days in which release language will shed some of the emotional tensions prevalent at the time. This choppy pattern of building tension, followed by release tension across all of July, August, September, and October will end on November 8th with the beginning of a planetary ‘tipping point’. Prior to November 8th, the daily shedding of emotional tension during the ‘release days’ of the choppy pattern will only release a small portion of the previous day’s building tension such that the general trend line is a steady growth of building tension through Summer, and Fall. So even though we have numerous release of tension days starting on July 11th, the tension still continues to build until November 8th in such a manner that we will have nearly a third again more tension yet to gain over the levels of late May. Basically, take a reading of the current ‘feeling’ and add in another third of that volume of tension. That is the state of the planet and omnihumanity by November, 2010. Then, according to the longer term values from previous Shape reports, a 4/four day ‘tipping point’ will emerge around some central theme that will grab humanity by the “short and curlies” with such force as to focus all our attention in one direction for four days, then the real release period begins. That release period will be straight release of emotional tension language through to very late January....just in time for the [global revolution (part une)].

Populace/USofA - Be Pwned, Be Phuk'd, Be P'offed

There have been several large shifts in both the immediacy and shorter term data as may be expected given the emotional impact of the Blue Flue oil volcano in the Gulf of Mexico. These changes are appearing within the Terra entity and the Populace/USofA entity, and the sub set of the GlobalPop entity that contains South America, and the Caribbean populace groups. Further, unexpected changes in both direction and mass within the ThePowersThatBe (TPTB) entity are also appearing around the [blue flue] and [oceans disease] sub sets.

The large shifts have brought together a number of cross linked aspect/attribute sets at very high archetype levels, as well as all the way down the linguistic chain into the detail layers. These aspect/attribute sets include [pressures], and [deep] and [over turning (upsetting onto its head)], and [sacrifice] among hundreds of others. This group was selected as it is held directly by very diverse sets including those in the TPTB entity as well as the Populace/USofA entity with the emotional components either nearly equal or harmonious in size. This means that the bespoke [fear] level over the [pressures of the deep requiring repeated and great sacrifice of the population (as a whole or mass)] are as high in the TPTB entity as they are in the Populace/USofA entity. Further we find that the emotional impact levels are nearly identical in the TPTB entity where the [minion class (politicians and other stooges)] has [pressures from the deep (oil volcano/blue flue) requiring repeated and scarring sacrifices by the populace] as it is within the Populace/USofA entity, sub set [populace consensus emotional response to oil volcano]. Stated yet another way to thoroughly confuse, the minions of TPTB, our [political 'leaders'] are as afraid of the reaction of the [populace] to the upcoming [call (demand) for sacrifice] as they are of their [masters], the TPTB themselves. So the situation for the [minion class of political operatives] is actually to now be caught between the [(oil covered) slippery slope of retribution and retaliation] by the [populace] and the [wrath and ruin (promised) by TPTB for failure].

Curiously (at this moment in universe unfolding at least), the [oil volcano (un-natural disaster)] expanding into the [oceanic eco-system] from the Gulf outward, as a descriptor set, is being held, within the Populace/USofA entity, under the archetype (and meta data layer) of [revolution].

Restating for clarity, the linguistic sets about the [oil disaster in the Gulf] are in the supporting set of the larger archetype of [revolution] within the Populace/USofA entity. Within the Populace/USofA entity, the chain of linguistic support flows from the [oil disaster] directly to the [revolution] meta data layer. This is one of the large shifts that have been made within the immediacy and shorter term data sets over these last months. The inference is that the [oil disaster] will become a primary support for the [revolution] ripple moving through the [bodily fluids] of the [american society].

The primary support for the [revolution] archetype, the [oil disaster] linguistic set, has as its own primary support, the aspect/attribute set of [unsettled (disrupted, chaotic, upheaval)] which is also the primary support for the [social mood] of the Populace/USofA for all of Summer, and most of the rest of this year and well into 2011. We need to note that the supporting sets for the [unsettled social mood] are filled with language that has very high, if not extreme, levels of emotional sums. This is to say that the [unsettled] word itself does not adequately describe the amounts of [emotional release] and [gut wrenching tensions] that will be [surging (over and through)] the Populace/USofA this Summer and beyond. The data sets indicate that many [irrational acts (of direct/violent) action] will be reported by the mainstream media. Of course the Populace/USofA will be getting the [spin/lies] form of the information in the MSM (mainstream media) reports, but nonetheless, the data is indicating that the mere mentioning, pretty frequently, of what will be described as ‘aberrant acts’, will be a [catalyst] for many of the [north american populace] to [wake to reality].

The movement of the data sets within modelspace over the course of Summer 2010 (northern hemisphere), shows a distinct pattern of tensions with specific points of focus. Within the Populace/USofA {ed note: different flow of tensions in GlobalPop over same period}, the emotional tension summations point to a June filled with [anxiety], and [displayed fear], both indicated to be displayed in the form of [angry crowds]. There are also linguistic sets going to the idea that [violence] associated with the [angry crowds] will be of the [agitated form (outside provocateurs)] and not internal. These [agitators] will be [traced back] to the [TPTB (by way of the minion class of politicians)]. However, without regard to the [agitators] and their [zionist agenda], the data sets indicate that [public discourse] at the [national level] within the Populace/USofA will also manifest significant changes all of which will center around [revolution], and the [“words allowed”] within the [national teevee discussion].

As the planet progresses toward the June 21 solstice, the Populace/USofA is indicating that the aware observer will be able to pick up several hints as to the way in which the meta data themes of [revolution], and [disapora] will manifest. These hints indicated to be appearing around the [solstice events and solar activities] should provide guidance for July (11th through 28th) and for the first 12/twelve days of August. The indications that we have within both immediacy data, and shorter term data sets are pointing toward the [manifestation] of [dollar death] to be 'pre-echo-ed' around the solstice with events that will be emerging in the [former colonies] and [satellites]. This latter apparently references 2/two separate contexts for [satellite]; the first being actual [communications satellites] and [satellite "states"]. In the case of the [communications satellites], the cross links over to the SpaceGoatFarts entity show that [black out conditions] will emerge from this [display]. The [satellite "states"] sub set is more complicated with large bands of extensive cross links, including to the Markets and TPTB entities, bringing up issues of the [degradation of empire (by money collapse)], and also the [release (from servitude) of former colonial provinces]. This last linguistic structure is also housing [break up/secession] language around the idea of a [federal organization]. This may be a pre-echo of the pending [destruction] of the [federal reserve cabal].

The data accretion patterns over the July 11th through the 18th inclusive period are all indicating that the [currency] pre-echo previously encountered in February and March will [resurface], as will the [political tensions]. The [political tensions] sub sets have 2/two very large spikes where accrual rates of new supporting details rapidly rise to new heights. These data accretion spikes are ['la fete nationale' (Bastille day to the english speakers - http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bastille_Day)], and July 28th through August 6th inclusive. In the case of the [la fete nationale], there are a higher number of geographic pointers toward the [south], and [provinces], than to [france] at the more general level. Further, the indications are that the [emotional tension escalation] occurs first in a [former french territory], and then the meme spreads internationally. Though strictly speaking this is part of the GlobalPop entity, the point is most pertinent for the [residents] of the [former french parts of north america] {ed note: likely specifically focused on the [Acadian] sub set of the [populace (of Louisiana)]}. The data sets are providing a simultaneous [outbreak] which will alter the [balance of power] within the [gulf states populace] relative to the [federal power authorities]. The emotional spike indicates that the [Acadian presence] will be visible on the [national stage (here in usfoa)] by a personality most easily identified with [hands] {ed note: or perhaps ‘slapping’?}. This personality is indicated to have region significance over the latter half of 2010, and into 2011. The point to the aware observer is that the emergence of the [acadian hands personality] will be a most significant temporal marker for the [escalation] of the [ill winds] meme within the [Gulf of Mexico, and beyond].

The first 12/twelve days of August are showing as being particularly [stressful] and [extremely tense] for the [Obama crew of minions]. The detail layers all the way up through to primary support in both the Populace/USofA entity, and TPTB entity are pointing toward [chaos] and [international pressures] of a level and [type] never before seen. These [pressured] times {ed note: the wording is very precisely chosen here. Come back and re-read on August 13th so see if we were correct.} are showing as being filled with [painful straining] to get to a [solution] that does not result in [shit blowing] yet another [ill wind]. The [12/twelve days of torment] in August, 2010, have clear temporal echo signatures indicating that a long term echo will result from the decisions made by the [minions (of the TPTB)] in [america] this Summer. These temporal echo signatures are of the very long term type and extend out to late May through early June of 2011. Whatever the subject matter for the [torment (long night of the soul)] that persists for the first [12/twelve days] in August, it will have [repercussions] that will surface in early 2011, and once again be very highly [visible] by June of 2011. Whatever the subject matter (likely oil volcano of course) for the [12/twelve days of torment for the Obama minions], the cross links to the Markets entity indicates both an immediate impact of very very very large proportions as well as another long term echo being presented, though this time for about late March 2011. See Markets entity for further discussion on this linguistic set.

In a separate set of descriptors within the Populace/USofA entity, the period from the 28th of July through all of August and into September, will be also [pressured] to an [extreme level (near-to-breaking)] by ALL things economic. This will stem from the [dollar death] process, and is indicated to involve directly other higher level archetypes such as [food supplies], [domestic tranquility], [foreign relationships], [public policy], and [unemployment]. The supporting set accretion patterns for the whole of the Populace/USofA entity are being driven or led by the aspect/attribute sets which accrue to the [unemployment] sub set of this entity. The inference is that ALL things [domestic economy] will be [hugely (extremely) disrupted] by the [dollar death contortions] and their impact on [employment levels].

Further, beyond any new or pending economic concerns, the data sets for the [unemployment] sub set are filled with support from [hidden malaise], and [deeply embedded disease] and [tumors rot (the economy) from inside to the outside]. The implications are that the [visibility] of the [unemployment crisis] will reach such levels over the latter half of July and all of August as to begin to manifest [spontaneous demonstrations] as well as [planned national strikes] here in the USofA.

There are some accretion pattern pointers for a 'peaking effect' of the [unemployment] and [economic] [domestic national crisis] to be coincident with a [military crisis (or crises...i.e. multiple 'hot' spots)], as well as more [natural (and un-natural) planetary disasters]. The accretion patterns show a distinct 'rise-to-bubble' form between August 6th and August 21. This bubble of activity does not mean to imply any slow down in the general acceleration of events after August 21. Actually, in so far as the cross links to the Terra entity seem to indicate from this point in the interpretation process, the latter half of August and all of September will be filled with [increased natural (and augmented) disasters]. Thus the bubble from August 6th through to the 22nd seems to represent just a 'slightly' more elevated amount of universal chaos. Hmmm, like nuts in cookies, just something different to chew on for while. In this instance, the 'bite' of extra-chewy chaos will be definitively felt here in the USofA.

Bearing in mind the previous discussion about the [12/twelve days] of problems for the [obama minion crew], the [unemployment] crises of the rest of August will be further exacerbated by the decisions taken [or not] {ed note: hint hint.} in early August. The data accretion patterns suggest large scale [social disruption], and the manifestation of many of the long range, and extremely long range made in the ALTA report series of years back.

As modelspace is progressed through late August and into September, the accretion patterns show that [extreme demands (for resources)] will be the [pressed upon (the usofa military)] and will increase to a point of high [visibility] as the Summer 2010 unfolds. Previously I had thought the increase in emotionally charged language about the [military] and [severe lack of resources] indicate worsening news from the [many (too many) battlefronts] in TPTB [perpetual war for perpetual profits scheme]. However now the linguistics are pointing to 2/two, mutually linked, but diverse situations which will be developing, likely as a result of the huge [volcano of oil] spewing out in the Gulf. The first of these is the direct [economic impact] on the [soldiers in foreign countries] as their [supplies dwindle] as both the [dollar death throes] progress, and the [large spewing volcano] demands ever greater resources on site. The second of the competing [unexpected demands for resources] is in support of the [diaspora] sub set. IF the monkey mind examination of the detail aspect/attribute sets is correct, then a possible scenario would be that large parts of the [south east] of the USofA would be [evacuated] and the resulting [diaspora] would [severely (to the point of breaking) impact] the [usofa military]. There are extensive cross links from the Populace/USofA entity over to the Terra entity that build during August and into September, and given the horrendous forecast in previous Shape reports for [extra (outside/beyond) seasonal climate (and weather)] here in north america over Summer/Fall, it would not be surprising to find [oil polluted hurricanes/storms] as a primary driver of [disapora] over these next months. Again, without regard to the proximate causes that will manifest, the language indicates a [depletion] and [resource limitation] that [restricts] the [activity] of the [usofa military] and simultaneously raises the [visibility] of the [military needs] within the mainstream and independent media.

Other issues for both the [populace] and the [minion class (politicians)] rise in [visibility] after the June 21 solstice as [food shortages] hit the media, both [independent] and [mainstream]. The supporting aspect/attributes for [food shortages] get a large emotional boost in very late June and early July. In late July the [food shortages] linguistic set is joined by other supporting sets within both Populace/USofA and, via cross link, the Terra entity, that are based on [food (crop) failures]. These sets for [crop failures] as a supporting set for [food shortages] are also extensively cross linked to the GlobalPop entity. The [food crop failures] sub set is supported at the primary level by [summer weather crises], and [storm damage], as well as [floods], and much more ominously, [extreme pollution]. This last is supported by many cross references to [oil volcano disaster] and is a primary focus for the [media] from late Summer onward through to the autumnal equinox.

The previous 2/two Shape reports had language in support of [3/three situations (disasters)] which would impact [north america] over Spring and Summer of 2010, and in which the [government (all levels, federal, state, and local)] would be faced with [challenges] such that their [bumbling around] would be [revealed] by the manifesting circumstances to the point that [visible (in the mainstream media)] denouncements of [incompetence] and [failure] would be flying fast and furious. Further the [incompetence] of the [government], so [starkly revealed], is indicated to supply further support for the [revolution] meme in the USofA in late Summer and early Fall. It would seem as of this writing on May 19, 2010, that the [oil volcano] in the Gulf is likely the first of these [3/three challenging disasters]. The nature of the other 2/two remaining is not yet manifest, but the linguistics (and monkey mind sampling of the detail level aspect/attributes) favor at least 1/one to be tangentially related to the [oil volcano]. In this interpretation, some form of [natural disaster], either [storm], or [earthquake] {ed note: both are equally represented in the data sets} is indicated to [fundamentally alter (the pre-existing problems)], and not in a good way. The challenges for the [government] as well as [politicians] at both [national] and [local] levels will be [severely impacted] by the [natural disaster] which is indicated to [magnify] the [concerns/worries (problem parameters)] of the [pre-existing situation] such that [visibility] goes directly to the [extreme levels], and seemingly does not let up much on the emotional impacts on the [populace] until after the November 8th through 11th ‘tipping point’.

Taken as a whole, all 3/three of the [challenging disasters (which reveal minions/govt to be incompetent/inadequate/dysfunctional)] have individual supporting aspects/attributes for [diaspora (scattering of the peoples)]. Further, all three are in direct supporting chain for the [diaspora] descriptor set within the long term data. Also all three contribute to the far edge of the shorter term data sets which are pointing to a [scattering (of the populace)] such that [one third (of those moved by manifesting disasters)] are [at risk (of death by proximate)], and a further [one third] are [at risk] of [death by exposure] {ed note: we *think this means exposure in the sense of day to day exposure to the whatever????...rather than the idea of exposure to the elements}.

As part of the [government’s incompetence] sub set of linguistics there are extensive internal cross links over to the Populace/USofA [military] archetype. We had forecast that the [military] linguistics set would become more [visible] over Summer of 2010, and perhaps result in a new [draft]. The archetype for [draft] is built of [national populace impact], and [military] at its most basic level. These base linguistics are again getting support, however in this Shape report, the interpretation will not be for a [call for a draft]. It would appear that the base linguistics may be forecasting the [impact on the national populace] of the USofA by the [military] as a direct result of the [oil volcano] in the Gulf. The reasoning for this interpretation is based on the idea that the use of [extreme military response] {ed note: likely the 'nuke it' option in August} may well be manifesting. If so, there will be a [fear] induced [diaspora] away from the Gulf states as the [nuclear option] increases in probability. Then if it is [announced], there will be further pressures on the [populace] to [leave/flee] the area. This [diaspora (scattering of the peoples)] would definitively involve the [military] at many levels as a method to attempt to [retain a national identity (hold the country together)]. This would be an alternative interpretation that would also fulfill the linguistics around which the [draft] forecast was built. Just to repeat for clarity, the base linguistic sets that had led to the forecast of [draft] language are still gaining supporting sets as modelspace is progressed over Summer, 2010. However, now the interpretation is for a different form of manifestation for this language. We have some higher levels of confidence for a [military participation] in a [large scale (if not nationally affecting) evacuation] as the total number of cross links over to the Terra entity has more than doubled since the last data gathering effort of a few months ago.

Sub sets of aspect/attributes in support of the [military] language coming to the forefront of the MSM (mainstream media, aka stooge propagandists for the TPTB) indicate that several interesting forms of [diaspora] will also affect the [military] within the Gulf state regions. As the [environment degrades] across the entire Gulf states region, and ultimately the South eastern seaboard states, the [usofa military] will be in the position of having to [relocate] actual [hundreds of thousands] of [shipments] of [material (all kinds of crap that humans accumulate thinking they need the stuff, oh, and armaments too)] as well as [hundreds of thousands] of [humans]. This is indicated to [dramatically affect] the [usofa military] both in [preparations (for warfare)] and [morale]. Bearing in mind that the [diaspora] is indicated to [remove wealth] in many forms such as [wastage (in other wise needless shipments of humans and goods)], as well as the [crushing (of fixed property values)] in the affected regions, the [military] and its individual [employees] will also suffer [economic loss] at an unheard of level. This component of the [devaluation] of the [dollar] as well as [destruction of resources] is indicated to rise to [visibility] in the MSM over Summer, primarily from July 18th onward.

Other forms of [destruction/degradation] of [human (and animal/plants) habitat] in the South Eastern USofA and throughout the Gulf of Mexico are indicated to come from [potable water aquifer contamination]. This is indicated to come from both [air] and [salt water (intrusion)] forms of [pollution]. The data accretion patterns are indicating that the [contamination of drinking water] will be one of the first [acknowledged permanent problems] as well as being one of the first of the [cited reasons (for) local diaspora].

GlobalPop – Island Girl, Dust Devils, Yodel now (while you may), Sparkles (over) Africa

It is usually within the GlobalPop entity that the most interesting forecast [personalities] emerge, and this data run is not an exception. As soon as GlobalPop is loaded into modelspace and progressed just a short distance forward to the Summer solstice, there are several new [personalities] showing in the descriptor sets. In the first instance examined, a [complement] personality to the [wild colleen] {ed note: previous Shape v0i4} appears. This complement is a [female personality] that is indicated to come from the [islands] of Asia. This [woman (or women)] has a brief, but [planetary] level of [visibility] after a [unique demonstration] of [entirely human skill], but with [superhuman control]. Some how this [woman] is indicated to be [important] as a [driver] for the [planetary revolution] that becomes [engulfing] in early 2011. There are some negative aspect/attribute sets around this [female personality] that are troubled by support from [execution], however we take some consolation from interpretations of the word as meaning [ability to deliver] or [delivery of skills]. In all cases the [Asian island woman] is described as being [mature], and [robust (in life force)], a local [celebrity] due to [family associations], yet this person is also described as being [locally famous (already)] for [having defied conventions] and [stepped outside (of) expectations (of) family history]. The supporting set accretion patterns suggest that this [asia island woman] will be come [highly visible] over 2010, such that in early 2011, when the planet has [changed], her role in [global revolution] will come from a [known (and trusted) personality].

The GlobalPop entity has grown considerably over this last data gathering process. In many areas the growth is as expected, which is to say, in support of [revolution], and [riots] and [social discord] that were forecast in previous reports for 2010. The data sets continue to grow under the [revolution] meta data layer, as the [economic] conditions globally continue to manifest the developing [planetary economic depression]. The growth rates are now increasing across all the geographic regions as [2/two] new factors are introduced, [rapid environmental (habitat) degradation], and, via cross links from the SpaceGoatFarts entity, [unknown energies from space]. The contexts for both of these new accretion patterns are [visible] in that we have [northern latitude volcanoes] popping off and causing wide spread climate change, as well as strange [solar activity] including the apparent [pulsing] of [high energy particles] into the atmosphere in ways not previously noticed. As every behaviorist knows, if you crowd a bunch of monkey-minded primates into an ever deepening cesspool, and zap their tiny brains with radiation, you are likely to get a rise in erratic behavior. Such 'erratic' behavior as [riots] and [protests], and basic [revolutionary behavior] will continue to happen as a really miserable Summer progresses into a terrible Fall. Note that the [riots] in Europe over early Spring were as forecast and are in the same temporal events chain as produced the [food crises riots which cause the looting of the vatican (place of sorcerers)] forecast. So that temporal trend line is still progressing. Also note that much of the new emotional sums for the [rioting] in Europe are now including [impacts (of) volcanoes] on the [local environment] as though continued [frustration] with the [economic] and [personal environment degradation] will be expressed in the EU zone over this [bizarre weather summer] in the form of [street actions]. Many of these are indicated to be [visible] (pun intended) in the MSM, even though [videos] will be made under a [blanket of dust]. The [dust (bad air/ill winds)] are described as being [bad enough] to [promote] the [wearing of face masks] and curiously [bandana's] tied around the face.

The GlobalPop entity contains large scale support for [diaspora] at large levels in a number of planetary regions due to [ocean disease], and [ocean blue flue (oil volcano)], and [atmospheric poisoning/pollution (from volcanic sources)], as well as new problems pushing on the planetary populace of omnihumanity such as [floods] {ed note: previously discussed in last several Shape issues}, and [catastrophic side effects (from floods)]. These last include [mountains (that slide)], and [valleys (that get plugged up creating new (unwanted) lakes)]. Further effects are showing up from [undersea volcanoes (creating new lands and shifting water currents/tides)] that in turn create [tidal flooding (on coastal areas)] across the planet. Many of these aspect/attribute growth areas are indicated to [create permanent] forms of [diaspora]. Some of these linguistic sets have been slowly building since the early days of our project in the late 1990's. That is probably not a good sign, and likely signals a huge level of impact.

The data sets accruing to nearly all of the [environment (of planet as habitat for global human populace)] sub sets are tied via cross link over to the SpaceGoatFarts entity where most of the originating points are within the [unknown energies from space] sub set. The source for the extensive cross link building pattern is a [solar episode] that will apparent be (or already is?) contributing to [mental pressures] for [humans]. The context would appear to suggest that a [peak] in this [mental pressure (from the solar output)] will allow for some easing after mid August, but that until that time, expect lots of [stress responses], and [over-reactions (to stimuli)] to be the operating norm within the Global Populace of humans. The accretion patterns suggest that these [internal mental pressures from solar radiation] will directly contribute to, and [exacerbate] the [revolution] and [social unrest] behavior globally. As will the rapid rise in [visible] problems with the [planetary habitat].

Areas in Southern Africa specifically, and in far southern latitudes in general, will be showing some very [extraordinary sky effects] over their Winter, 2010. The data sets accruing are pointing toward really exciting [sky shows] from mid July onward, that are forecast to have a [global visibility], as well to add to the general [mystery] of the [space happenings] this year. These [sky shows] are described as being [climate] connected, but also to be [space energies initiated (triggered)]. The indications are that these are [electrical effects] that exist in [potential form] due to some very [extraordinary conditions] that are now building. The chain of causal factors in this instance numbers over 2400/two-thousand, four hundred descriptors, all of which are each connect back to some environmental factors, natural or human made (i.e. HAARP).

Further shorter term accretion patterns indicate the [divisive continuance] will continue. The indicators are for the pretty much [total collapse] of the [monetary agreements] that [bind europe]. This is indicated to occur almost simultaneously with the [visible] [strengthening] of the [asia alliance] both [economically] and [militarily (thanks to the russian participation)]. The [european banking collapse] that is forecast for this Summer, is directly tied to, and is also indicated to act as a [fulcrum] for the [further implosion (deflation)] of the [financial ‘assets’] of the American Empire. The [european banking crises crescendo] is indicated to gain significant [visibility] from about July 18th onward. Prior to that, [internal discord], and [divisive confrontation] within the [central banking structure] at the [minion levels] will induce a [sense of paralysis] as everyone awaits the impact of the onrushing train that they all can clearly [see bearing down (upon) them].

Apologies for current and future offense of brevity...

In general, this report is light on the GlobalPop interpretation, due to the primary impact being generated by the [oil volcano] in the Gulf of Mexico. There is some thought that conditions for future Shape reports may not have this burden, however we are not anticipating a positive outcome from the Gulf oil volcano disaster, nor its handling by the administration of the American Empire, so....it may be that the next few Shape reports will be dominated by this, and other habitat degrading manifestations (as we suspect). This is also indicated to continue through at least November 11th as our longer term data shows that the global 'tipping point' will first be reached, and will have the highest level of [visibility] here in the American Empire.

Terra – Be Pissed, Be Prepared, Be move-able

The data sets, as well as manifesting reality, are showing that the [unintended consequences] of [weather wars] are now being [exacerbated] by the [unknown energies from space] as indicated by extensive cross links over to the SpaceGoatFarts entity, where the terminating sets include [radiation from space], and [unexplained pulses]. The [weather wars machinery] has held the [hurricanes] off shore for several years now, and the [unintended consequences] of this [protective action] are becoming clear as global weather patterns shift to compensate. In the case of the [anti-hurricane actions], the [continuous high pressure ridge] that the [military] form over the south atlantic ocean to act as a [bumper] for [hurricanes] has caused a new [rain pattern] to form in which the [weather] from the [north pacific ocean] is being [drawn across] the [continental of north america] due to the [low pressure systems] that are forming around the [artificial high pressure anti-hurricane ridge]. It is this new pattern that has caused the very deep, and [out of season] forms of [cold winter storms] across the Pacific North West of North America, while also bringing that same [cold/wet systems] over the northern half of the [continental usofa], and thus inducing the off-shore flow patterns that had brought a very late winter to the NE of the USofA.

The [unintended consequences] from the [military use (of weather control)] at a global level are indicated to be part of the rise of the [visibility] of the [military] archetypes in both the Populace/USofA and the GlobalPop entities. This [visibility] increase is very significant and appears as we move modelspace past June 28th.

The Terra entity has grown huge new levels of cross links over to both the Populace/USofA entity where they terminate in the [oil volcano disaster], and the GlobalPop entity where the termination points are within the [volcanoes] sub set. There are, as expected, a number of the cross links terminating in the [icelandic volcanoes], but what is unexpected is that the data sets indicate that [more ash] and [climate disruption], as well as [restrictions on travel] will be coming from [volcanoes] that are not in Iceland. The data does indicate a number of [years] of [icelandic volcano eruptions] that will continue to both [alter air traffic patterns], and negatively affect [food production], but is also showing that a [yet to erupt volcano] will be causing further problems for Europe and Russia, as well as the Middle Eastern countries by the end of 2010. This pending [volcanic eruption] has some geographic indicators for a [lower latitude], and has much more geographic association with the Mediterranean and Adriatic than the North sea. The [volcanoes] are being forecast as a [threat] to [food production] at a global level. If we include the impact of the [oil volcano disaster], then the combined forecast effect of all of the [volcano activity] for 2010 is showing as [reducing] the [food crops production globally] by $1/5^{\text{th}}$ (one fifth). The impact on the [planetary populace] is indicated to bring [famine] and [violence].

Volcanoes are not the only Terra entity problems being forecast for omnihumanity. There are several linguistic sets gaining support for [rising lands]. These are primarily focused on the Southern Ocean, and the Indian Ocean, but also have some relevance for the Southern Pacific. These [rising lands] sub sets are also part of the [oceans disrupted] sub set that had been so active these last several reports. There are supporting aspect/attribute sets that accrue over Summer and Fall (and perhaps even into Winter) of 2010 from the [rising lands] sub set that are pointing toward [unusual] and [extraordinary] forms of [new tides (tidal activity)]. These are indicated to have a very large [visibility], even within the propaganda press (mainstream media) by late Fall. The impacts of the [tidal activity (of new form/new places?)] is indicated to be [yet-another-crushing-economic-burden] for humans (where affected).

The Terra entity grows considerably in supporting data sets as modelspace is progressed through Summer of 2010. Further, in the lexicon tuning prior to this interpretation, we ran modelspace out as far as it could go (a usual procedure), and the Terra entity also add considerable supporting aspect/attribute sets beginning in late October, with a peak in November. Further growth continues, but the implication is that the Terra entity definitively participates in the tipping point of November 8 through 11, and thereafter contributes to the emotional release language of the following 2/two months. These previous growth patterns in the longer term data set will be our last look that far out for the Terra entity until the August or September report, unless circumstances so accelerate that the 'far look' is required. As a process note we can say that most of the time consumed in these reports is involved in cross matching the lexicon to longer term values. Probably as it should be, in this universe that is.

The Terra entity has several very very large accretion patterns under the [oceans] sets, as may be expected, given the manifesting circumstances. It is with regret that I can say that the interpretation is for yet more incompetence in what TPTB will label as ["planetary stewardship"]...wait for it to appear in media near you. Bear in mind that the underlying word of [steward] and its associated context bring along the implication of [royalty] and [bloodline freaks have a 'divine' right to rule]. The more proper term should be something line [omnihumanity harmonization with planetary processes], or ? However, the cross links from the Terra entity over to the TPTB entity have produced hints for this new [propaganda phrase]. That it rises from the [oceans] sub set is telling, in more ways than may be immediately [visible]. {ed note: pun(s) clearly intended}.

The Terra entity is providing for more [volcano] examples, including larger [eruptions] in the far north. The active [volcanoes] will extend beyond Iceland and will include both [siberia] as well as [sub ocean activity (above 50 degrees latitude)]. The [volcanoes] are indicated to affect [planetary food production] as well as [transportation]. There are further indicators that some of these [volcanoes] will be producing [new lands] and [land extensions]. These last sub sets include some [new lands] that will be [popping up] over the [ocean waves], as well as [sub surface features] that are indicated to become a [hazard to mariners] as well as a [mineral storehouse] of [great potential].

The [food production problems] and [crushing climate burden] caused by the [volcanoes] altering both [jet stream patterns], as well as [ocean convection currents] are extensively cross linked over to both the GlobalPop and Populace/USofA entities where the top terminating sub set is [diaspora]. The implication is that the [terra intrudes] push from universe will once again set humans moving about en masse. This being said, we still have [diaspora] sub sets directly held by the Terra entity, and with a [continental USofA] focus that grow rapidly from late Summer through to May of 2011.

So the inference I am taking from this is that [populace of the usofa] is [on the move] beginning in Summer of 2010, and it slows down appreciably by late Spring of next year. The idea coming across from the detail layers is of perhaps millions relocated over the course of just a year due to what is described in the data as [calamitous global changes]. The data also seems to be implying that the [european] and [asian] populace will be also impacted, but slightly later than the [populace of north america]. Further implications would seem to be that the [relocation] is [permanent] for a large percentage of those who [shift], and others will not be returning to their [birth areas] for nearly a year.

Other sections within the directly held [diaspora] sub set within the Terra entity have support for [planetary impacts inducing population movement] due to [floods], both [tidal], and from [river systems]. At the same level are supporting aspect/attribute sets for [diaspora] as a result of [local food production collapse] due to [adverse (catastrophic) climate change]. Please note that for much of the northern hemisphere, the indications are for a [winter of extremes], that is to say, the idea is that [out of season (winter like)] conditions will manifest across the top third of the planet at levels that are described as [rivaling the ice age].

The indications for [negative climatic impacts] on [food production] at a planetary level cannot be over stated. The amount of geographic references for locations of [failed crops] is overwhelming. The accretion patterns show that the [visibility] of [food crop shortfalls and failures] will rise to [general awareness] sometime in late August. The cross links from these areas in the Terra entity that are providing support for [climate disruption] and [food crop failures] terminate in the Populace/USofA, and the GlobalPop sub sets that include [famine], [rioting], and others which are also supporting sub sets for the [revolution] meta data archetype.

Without regard for the recent [oil volcano], the Terra entity has contributed several dire forecasts for the [oceanic resource chain] over these last few Shape reports. These have highlighted the currently unfolding [fisheries collapse] due to many problems from [pollution] through to [over fishing]. Now we need to note that the Terra entity, sub set [ocean(s) harvest] shows growing linguistic support for a [collapse] of the ability to [extract calories (foods)] from the oceans at a global level of over 68 % reduction. This is correct. The 68% figure has been derived by the same method that produced the [300,000 (three hundred thousand) killed] forecast of the Band Ache earthquake and Indian Ocean tsunami. Our figure in that forecast erred to the extreme by a small amount over the [officially proffered figures], but not by much. Again in this case, if we are off with this number, it will be fractionally so. The [ongoing or current] collapse of the [ocean food chain] will be very [visible] as Summer rolls into Fall. Many [nations] are indicated to be [severely impacted] as significant [food sources] are removed from the already [stressed] levels of [planetary food resources].

The Terra entity has, as was forecast in the Shape v0i4, the Blue Flue (note the spelling) as a primary problem for humans and life in general due to its participation in the [ill winds]. These linguistics are still accruing data sets in support so the forecast would have to be that attempts to seal up the [oil volcano] will not succeed in the near future. {ed note: also see Populace/USofA for pertinent discussion to factor into conclusions.} However the archetype that led us to the forecast of the Blue Flue in the report that was released prior to the April 20th ‘BP mistake’ that produced the [oil volcano], has some support for the [cessation of the output]. The supporting data sets are clearly indicating that an [earthquake] will be the [proximate cause] of the [cessation] of the [eruption]. Unfortunately for the planet and all of us, this [earthquake] is indicated to arrive some [19/nineteen months] after the beginning of the [eruption].

Markets – “Quick! Act Surprised!”, The Unliftable Heaviness of (new state of) Being

As may have been noticed by the aware observer, the global [paper trading markets] have entered a period of [disarray] following the increase in building tensions that was exhibited by universe in the form of the May 6th stock market ‘unexpected plunge’...for which no adequate explanation has been offered.

As modelspace is progressed forward through the immediacy data it traverses from late May through to July. The shorter term value sets take us from late June through mid September before the granularity drops to the unreliable level. Both data sets contain large sets that accrue to the Markets entity over this period. Given the totality of the data mass, for the period from June through to mid September, the Markets entity outpaces both the Populace/USofA entity, and the GlobalPop entity in new supporting sets. Further, excepting the Terra entity and the SpaceGoatFarts entity, the Markets entity accrues more extreme value linguistics than all the other entities. Also the Markets entity, over the course of June through the end of August, gains more of its emotional tension mass from cross links than from directly held values. Further the rate of growth of cross links for the Markets entity is faster than all the other entities, excepting the Terra entity {ed note: so far for 2010}. In a concise statement, the data suggests that the [paper trading markets] will become [explosive] over these coming months. Further, outside of the impacts from the planet, the [paper trading markets] will add more emotional tension (and daily release spikes) than any other factor in the life of the planetary populace. This trend seems to continue right up to the middle of September, so the context coming across is for absolute [economic/currency chaos] to [dominate (daily) life], even over [new war] during this period.

While there are linguistic sets headed by such descriptors as [abundance], and [prosperity], these are focused on the [minority] that is further described as [(long term) contrarians/objectionists]. These persons will find that Summer and even Fall of 2010 will bring [validation] of their [position/understanding] so long held in [ridicule] by the [majority (consensus) opinion].

Other than the [prescient minority], the rest of the [planetary populace] is indicated to be [soiling their pants], and having [fear-shit (down the legs)]. These graphic descriptors are focused on a period of about [10/ten days] in Summer {ed note: monkey mind would place this in very early August when Obama and the other minions are soooo stressed by manifesting circumstances}. These [10/ten days] are, for the [consensus opinion], being described as the [irrevocable (irretrievable) transition] into the [new structure (of the) world]. NO, this does not mean that the N.W.O. takes over in some grand Masonic/Zionist coup, rather the descriptor is supported by aspect/attributes which go to the idea of the [crumbling of the building], such that a [completely new structure/house] is required to [continue]. Other supporting aspect/attribute sets include [torment], of the [majority consensus view (of reality and markets)] as [currencies] at a [global level] become [discordant] and [divisive].

The whole of the [currencies] descriptor set within the Markets entity gains much of its emotional supporting values, over Summer 2010, from such aspect/attribute sets as [dangerous situation], [dire consequences (from missteps)], and [planet (sized) changes]. Further supporting aspect/attribute sets all the way down to the detail layer bring the idea of a [currency implosion], and [devastating deflation] across all of the [paper trading markets].

Please note that the Populace/USofA has many cross links originating in the Markets entity in this area of the [planetary currencies distress crisis] which terminate in very powerful archetypes such as [knocked (outside one's self)], or [shock produces (effect of) being beside one's self]. And a very unsettling number of other such cross links all going to the idea of a [huge emotional shock] relating to [currencies] that is so impacting that the majority emotional state associated with this globally is [reeling (from the shock)] and [out-of-body experience (due to emotional impact)]. Hmmmm... so probably this is not something that even really good pie will fix.

Within the [summer currency crisis] and supporting [shock] sub sets there are further supporting layers for [10/ten days of torment (for 'professional' greedsters, aka 'money managers'), and [funds operators]. These [10/ten days of torment] are described as so [deep], and so [wrenching (of the testicles)] as to [induce suicides]. {ed note: please be aware that not all of the suicides will be 'willing' or 'self induced'}. .

The data suggests that the final [convulsions] of the [dollar death] is here (Summer and Fall 2010), now. The immediacy data accretion patterns, across both the Populace/USofA and GlobalPop entities, as well as the Markets entity, indicate that [vast (economic) landscape disruption] will be [manifesting] over Summer. The [economic disruption] is indicated to [reach (from the) highest down to the lowest] over only a [very short time]. In the [short time] linguistic sets are indicators that the [summer, 2010] will be [repetitiously filled] with [days of shock] {ed note: think May 6th}.

The archetype that gains the support of the [economic landscape disruption] over Summer 2010 is headed by the descriptor [decreasing (values)] for a clear indication of [deflation]. It is worth noting however, that the [deflation] being described is itself supported by [hyperinflation], and [increase (of costs/prices)]. Both of these very large linguistic sets contain layers of aspect/attribute sets pointing to [escalating costs/prices] for [foods] that will [significantly/largely (be magnified)] from July onwards in a manner that is described as [floating upward]. The [hyperinflation] sub set is supported by [foods], and [personal (heat/cooking/hot water) energy], as well as [gold and silver]. This [hyperinflation] is also set against a background of the [general/broad/deep] impact of [deflation] across the whole of the [planet (of) produced goods]. In other supporting aspect/attribute sets, that are in an supporting layer of depth never before seen in our work, we note that pretty much all things not [eaten], nor [burned (for heat/energy)] are indicated to [decrease (in value)] so [rapidly/speedily] as to [chill (the) blood (of those trying to sell them)]. There are repeated references to [chilled blood], and [sinking (feeling in stomach)] and other body parts and processes language in the supporting sets for the [deflation]. In the past interpretation, we have learned to take very seriously any archetypes which involve human (or other biologic) body parts and processes as being very impacting. These layers of detail under the [deflation (planet wide)] are so filled with body parts and processes archetypes that they nearly outnumber all the other supporting major archetypes. Likely this is NOT a good sign for humans.

As we continue the exploration of the data specific waves of accretion of supporting sets for the Markets entity, the rates of accrual suggest the pattern of a day of release language followed by a day of building tension language will dominate omni humanity from July 11th through November 8th of this year within the [economic] archetype as the supporting descriptors are describing the [re-ordering (of planetary society)] as a direct result of the [death of the dollar (and other currencies)]. The supporting sets for the [dollar death] linguistics grow at an astonishing rate over Summer, and Fall. They more than quintuple the total emotional tension around the [usofa dollar] and the [euro] currencies between July 6th and August 12th. Also during this period, several very large supporting sets accrue to the [precious metals] sub sets, specifically under [gold and silver]. The growth of these supporting sets is so powerful as to be upsetting to the balance of the Markets entity itself within modelspace. The emotional tension levels around the [precious metals] are driven by supporting sets such as [violent], and [aggressive], and [desperate], and [demanding]. These sets and thousands more accrue under the [panic (to buy/own)] sub sets for [gold and silver] over late June, from about the 28th, through all the way to November, but with a noticeable peak in early August. There is a secondary wave of supporting sets, also quite large, that appears in late October and carries on through to at least May of 2011, though it might go further, we simply are not interpreting the longer term values within this report so the level of granularity decreases rapidly after May of 2011 in so far as the modelspace is concerned.

To return to the ‘beginning’ of it all in early July, there are many new supporting sets that appear just in early July, which is to say, new archetypes that grow under the [markets] from July onward, as though marking a significant, or major transition of state of being. The data sets are so clearly focused on the choppy building and release of tensions over Summer/Fall 2010 as to indicate that this upcoming period of 3/three to 4/four months is very likely to be [noted (in/by) history]. Hmmmm...let’s see, living in a time that ‘history’ will find interesting?!? ...probably also not a good sign for us guys who are here now.....

The data sets that accrue over Summer and Fall continue to support not only the [dollar (currencies in general) death] meme, but also the [revolution] meme that is supported in turn by the [dollar death] supporting sets. The data contains language including [riots (over food prices)], and [riots (over the collapse of entitlements)] both in the [USofA], and in [EU (in general, with specific ‘hot spots’ including Spain, Ireland, France, and Italy)]. Further, the [paper trading markets] are themselves to be [subjected to/targets of] a [wave of violent attacks] in the later part of Summer or early Fall, as the [sudden (and shocking) poverty] of the [former middle class] aims the high emotional tensions toward what will be defined as the [guilty parties].

As a sub set of the [dark night of the soul] for the [Obama minions] over the first 12/twelve days of August, the data sets also include a very nasty period from late September 2010 that will be focused around [shifting (apparent) guilt]. This theme is indicated to run at least out to May of 2011, and includes the idea that the [petty people (aka politicians)] may be put into a position of having to [turn upon] or [sacrifice (their handlers/masters/owners)] to [save their own testicles (from crushing)] by the [rioting mobs]. The idea is clearly that at least some in the [political minion class] will [betray] their [masters], TPTB, and both are indicated to [visibly suffer] as a result. In several instances the data suggests that [politicians] will be [suicided], and suffer [fatal (if bizarre) accidents]. However, the encouraging news is that similar fates await many of the TPTB and their [upper tier servants]. And further, the data shows that much of this activity will have very high [visibility] levels, so it will be quite plainly apparent to the aware observer.

Many of the conditions for the production of the very odd [hyperinflation pockets] inside the [general deflation fabric] are indicated to become [visible] after June 28th. The July 11th day of release language (first since late winter) marks the rise in [visibility] of this trend, and may also be the point at which [rioting] becomes the ‘political sport’ of the summer. However, again note that much of the [riots] and the pressures to do so are dependent upon the [weather] being cooperative enough to allow people to gather. There are cross links over to the Terra entity that suggest that [inclement weather] and [catastrophic climate change conditions] will alter many political plans for the next few years across large swaths of the land masses.

The only area of the long term data that we examined (other than SpaceGoatFarts) was in the Markets entity. This was due to the extraordinary number of cross links that form in August as the [12/twelve days of Obama minion torment] occur. These cross links are both originating, and terminating in the Markets entity, with a nearly equal amount of both forms. These cross links, and the accretion pattern of the aspect/attribute sets both in Markets and Populace/USofA entities are also thoroughly connected to the longer term future from about August 10th onward. {ed note: probably the day the decision is made, with it being announced on the 12thor something like that}. These longer term temporal pre-echo signs are in abundance within the Markets directly held data and the set contained in the cross links. These pre-echoes are pointing toward very very significant emotional [turmoil] in Spring of 2011. These pre-echoes are describing a situation that will not be a sudden crisis, but rather the [turning point] {ed note NOT a ‘tipping point’...a different kind of construct here}, for very major social infrastructure changes which will affect multiple generations. The period involved has actually begun some number of years back according to the data sets, and will reach this most significant [turning point] in early Spring of 2011. Modelspace does not provide a more exact date at this juncture of the data accretion, and it may also be that the spread being presented in the longer term data is there due to the length of time it takes for the emotional components of the [turning point] to manifest]. Whatever the nature of the situation, the duration in the longer term data extends from March 11, 2011 through at least May 15th.

The [turning point] as it is described in the lower granularity of the aspect/attribute sets in the Markets entity represents a major [social] and [political] alteration. Described as a [social body shift] with supporting sets that include [centering (the) head/mind] and [turning (over the social) body], this [turning point] within the longer term data sets quite clearly is also presenting a view of a total change of state. It is difficult to communicate the extent of the changes by presenting the mere alterations of the emotional data types sums. These numeric values are key, as they completely reverse in what we call a 'diagonal fashion' here at HPH, but to actually convey the emotional import, I will have to resort to metaphor and simile that will necessarily be very misleading to the monkey minds of us all. In other words I will offer an example of the level of emotional changes coming to the [world of paper trading markets], but it will be wrong in all particulars and details except the emotional level of response that it generates. In fact, I will offer 2/two examples of the level of change, just to confuse the monkey mind's tendency to remember details at the expense of the larger picture. These examples of the amount of [social body change] coming to the [global paper trading markets], but [led by/ driven by] the [turning point] here in the USofA would include the [1917 revolution in Russia, and the subsequent decade of internal strife], or the [1890s Banking Panic (in London/Argentina)]. In both instances, large parts of the [infrastructure] of the planet was altered over the following decades. It can be argued that the 1890's Bank Panic directly led to the very painful depression here in the USofA, and only 23/twenty-three years later, the [enslavement] of the [populace] through the [central bank (aka 'federal reserve bank cabal of criminals and pedophiles)].

The [turning point] within the data sets for the [global paper trading markets] is such that the beginning of the process starts in March of 2011 through May 2011, but the data indicates at least 18/eighteen months will be required for the [visible] levels to be completed. IF the data were to be indicating something so mundane as say 'congressional hearings', these would be expected to drag on for a year and a half. However, the level of emotional release and tension building within both the directly held aspects and the cross links indicates something on the order of the [purges/pogroms] of the old Soviet Union, or the [show trials] of downed American pilots in the Vietnam (almost a) War, or the McCarthy anti-communist [loyalty purges] here in the USofA in the 1950's....only more so. The events that will be [visible] in Spring of next year are indicated to be of the order of a [turning point] such that the [society body] itself is [moved/turned]. This is very significant. Much more so that merely shifting it in small increments as was accomplished by TPTB with the [911 false flag attack on NY/WA DC]. Instead we are talking about a [social body] turning that involves the mass of the [populace], first in the USofA, then more slowly across the whole of the planet. The release period that ends on January 23rd of 2011 undoubtedly brings a palpable taste riding on the future air, but the data indicates that things will not get [real exciting/shocking/startling] until after Winter.

The magnitude of the emotional sums alterations is such that the period from Spring forward 2011 are such that it may represent the shift over to a formal gold based economy (over the subsequent years), or even the 'release into the wild' of the [free energy machinery] and thus the abandonment forever of both paper trading and commodity based economic thinking. Neither of these would be surprising, given the level of numeric shifts within the emotional array values of the linguistics involved.

SpaceGoatFarts – Gas attack, Handedness, Terra (less than) Firma,

The actual [farts (form the officially denied Giant Mutant Space Goats)] in the form of [unknown energies from space] just may be playing a part in the forecast [global navigation crisis] for 2011 and beyond. There are supporting sets for [officially denied] and [totally/actually unknown] components to the pending [chaotic upheaval] of the [global navigation system]. Rather than actually referring to the GPS system per se, the data sets are describing the [higher level (of control and reportage)] that [employs tools (such as GPS)] to [plot and track], and [navigate across (the) planet].

The SpaceGoatFarts entity is largely composed of longer term values as a general rule of its progression in modelspace. This data processing run has been something of an exception with large accrual of mostly shorter term variables that are pointing to lots of [space based] activity in the coming 3/three months.

The data sets are gaining support from aspect/attributes that go to a [space based 'gas' attack]. This [gas] sub set is less than well defined, and may be merely in a building phase, so not really ready to manifest, however the shorter term sets would tend to indicate that its [visibility] should be showing over the next 3+ months. The [gas] is described as being a [visible] type of [problem] that [manifests] for humans. While this [gas attack] sub set has many supporting sets, as well as extensive cross links over to the Terra entity where the terminations are within [volcano activity], the specific of this sub set seems to be indicating that even if the [volcanoes] are the actual point of origination, the [attack (problem)] will come from [near space]. So the idea coming across is perhaps that super fine dust or some other form of [corrosive] is [ejected] to areas so high in the atmosphere, that on the other side of the [planet] it will come down from [near space] in such a manner as to [cause] both [disruptions] and [failure] of [jets] both [military] and [commercial]. Since the [attack] supporting layer is under the broader descriptor of [gas], there is also a possibility of, and support in the aspect/attributes for [atmospheric alterations] that produce the same effect. These [alterations (of the) atmosphere] may be such that [high altitude jets] fly into regions that are [not tenable (for human life)] and strange effects result. Some of the first of the [planes] indicated to have [gas attacks] are [military] and apparently will be operating over their [southern most range] at the time.

Other general screwiness seems to be on [hand] for the [summer (northern hemisphere)] as further [swirly things] will be seen both in the [sky] as well as [in near earth space]. These [swirly things] are indicated to be showing a form of [opposition] which the data sets describe as relating to the [spin direction (clockwise, or anti)]. These [swirly thing] alerts are showing as being something of a [really big deal] especially within the normally staid MSM. These are showing up as modelspace is progressed over late July and through August and early September.

Further [space strange oddities] are accruing under the [unknown energies] sub set and these have very heavy cross links over to the Terra entity where we have termination in [climate], and [high altitude jet stream patterns]. There are additional supporting sets within this area that provides cross links over to the populace entities where the termination points are [extra seasonal weather patterns], and [food crop failures]. Further into this lexical structure we encounter very large support for [planet wide tidal flooding] as well as [ocean disease], and [ocean water level rise(s)]. Some of these areas hold [undersea volcanoes] directly, indicating the link between the [unknown energies from space], and the soon-to-be-visible-acceleration of [sub oceanic volcanoes]. Further sub sets within this supporting set go to the [rising (new) lands] meme held now for a number of years within the data sets as being an increasingly [visible] phenomena here on Terra.

Within the whole area of cross links between the SpaceGoatFarts entity, and the Terra entity are patterns that in the past have been used to forecast major earthquake occurrences. If still accurate, these data sets are accreting in such a way as to suggest that our present pattern of large scale earthquakes will not decrease in 2010 or probably even 2011. The growth of the supporting sets in this area alone are likely indicators for even increasing numbers and magnitudes of destructive earthquakes. The indications are for several instances of [disapora] inducing [earthquakes] over Summer and especially from August 5th onward through to the equinox in September.

Feed the Monkeys: Scenario planning:

Letting monkey mind off its leash for a moment, we have several scenarios that can be constructed to fit the linguistics forecast. Some of these are described here. Understand that these are not forecasts per se, but rather a connection of the dots we have by monkey mind, a very unreliable creature under the best of circumstances, and clearly these are not such....so take these as mere woo-woo wanderings of the unfettered monkeys in the data...

The base for the scenario ->

The June 28th increase in economic woes drive a spike into the 'heart' of any more recovery talk such that after a week of real 'worry', and after the long July 4th holiday, a very severe crumbling of what is left of the infrastructure begins on or about July 6th such that by the 11th, the picture of "depression" is quite clear at a global level.

Scenario #1: The release language episode on the 11th (lasting 18.7 hours) relates to some 'crash' or 'debacle over derivatives', and language rises in the mainstream press to the effect that the global currencies infrastructure is at risk of collapse. Other language surfaces which is related to the dire conditions facing the USofA military. The 'oil volcano' still is spewing, adding economic injury, political pressures, and ecological disaster to the pressures here in the USofA. Abroad in Europe, the continuing currency crisis resurfaces as the 'fixes' patched up in April and May fade away in the reality of a Summer with restrictions on movement of people and goods in the EU zone, as well as severe problems in food production and distribution such that by mid July, riots erupt in a number of countries. Due to the gigantic pressures from many different areas, the rioting in the EU (and former Eastern Bloc countries) is particularly violent and bloody. During this time, and affecting all of europe, several serious revolutionary movements are birthed in the blood on the streets. These populace movements calling for the 'dissolution of the EU' become so prevalent and popular that violent acts occur at and around all manner of EU (Brussels led) organizations.

In this scenario, the '12/days of torment' in August for the Obama administration relate to pretty much total collapse of the world currency infrastructure and more or less instant bankruptcy of the USofA. The government, over the course of only days, has to cancel all issuance of checks, as well as cope with the refusal of most government workers to come to work for no money, or for 'government script'. During this time, riots and disruptions break out across the USofA. In this scenario, the 'oil volcano' continues to spew. In this scenario, the 'political landscape' of the USofA degrades over the rest of Summer and Fall due to the revelations that come out from the former government workers. In this scenario, war between the TPTB against the populace of the USofA on November 8th, with the initial 4/four days of the war resulting in mass casualties. On the fifth day of the war, members of the Popular Liberation Militia in (redacted) state surround and destroy a caravan of TPTB, killing several hundreds of the most senior members of TPTB as well as upper level minions. The resulting release period of the next 2+ months involves the spread of the war with TPTB at the planetary level, and much chaos ensues. In this scenario, an earthquake plugs the 'oil volcano' in late March of 2012. The damage accumulated from the oil volcano, and the war kills 1.289 billion people across the planet.

Scenario #2:

In this scenario, Israel chooses to attack Iran, and the forecast 'Israeli mistake' occurs on or around July 11th. The resulting war, and the damage inflicted on the Middle East in general and Iraq and Israel in particular cause giant humanitarian crisis as the planet tries to cope with the 'radioactive' clouds then joining the 'ash' clouds from the Icelandic volcanoes, and the 'petroleum' clouds in the Gulf of Mexico in the forecast (and already manifesting) 'ill winds'. Of course, the attack by the Israelis on the Iranians, occurs because the global economy has already demonstrated that it is collapsing, and the Israeli's hope to draw the US into the war on their side while it still has enough economic and military power to assist. This effort fails due to the 'background' pressures on the Obama administration as well as direct threats from China and Russia. This scenario results in the defeat of the Israelis after they inflict much damage on Iran. The damage does not prevent the attack on Iraq that destroys most of the American presence there. Tel Aviv and several other Israeli cities are rendered uninhabitable as a result of both direct attacks, and the ‘mistake’ that the Israeli high command makes in staging nuclear weapons that results in these cities being ‘accidentally dirty bombed’ when suicide aircraft attacks deliberately crash into the nuclear storehouses so ‘conveniently’ established by the Israeli’s themselves. The tensions continue to build into November as other issues come into focus. This scenario has the Obama administration’s “long (12 days long) night of the soul” in the beginning of August being driven by the Israeli attack on both Iran, and Iraq. The Israelis are then attempting to do another USS Liberty only killing US soldiers on the ground in Iraq as their false flag attack. The Obama administration does not take the bait, and indeed suffers its conscience so much it actually reveals the Israeli perfidy in the attack on Iran, and in a speech on August 12th, Obama actually ‘reveals’ some of the truth about the Israeli war on Iran, as well as the ‘zionist’ control over American domestic interests. This scenario leads the tension building choppy pattern to a constitutional and national crisis here in the USofA in November that results from a ‘pogrom’ against zionists nationwide after a ‘zionist coup’ attempts to seize the USofA government {ed note: under the guise of a ‘populist party’} over the 4/four days in November. In this scenario, the zionist coup is the 4/four day tipping point, and the subsequent 2+ months of release language is the populist uprising against the ‘zionist colonels and politicians’ who have ‘declared’ their coup. A civil war results from this scenario over November, December, and most of January. The war is over by the 23rd of January, 2011, and the show trials of the zionists, banksters, coup plotters, and politicians begin along with the public executions. In this scenario, the Washington monument site (destroyed in the fighting in early December) is the place for the televised killings of the zionists coup members and supporters. In this scenario, a wave of ‘reformation’ hits the whole of the ‘jewish’ culture as zionism is repudiated and mass numbers of young women leave (forever) the temples due to corruption and social stigma (curious about words, eh?). In this scenario, an earthquake plugs the ‘oil volcano’ in late March of 2012. The damage accumulated from the oil volcano, and the Israeli mistake and subsequent war kills 1.289 billion people across the planet.

Scenario #3:

In this scenario, the choppy nature of the release and building tension that dominates Summer and Fall relates to the continuing death of the dollar as the American empire continues to die. In this scenario, the 12/days of torment for the Obama administration relates not to the currency destruction through rampaging deflation (with hyper inflation for food, metals, energy), but rather to the environmental disaster that is the oil volcano in the Gulf. In this scenario, the choppy, and almost daily, pattern of release of the previous days building tension results from the ongoing economic problems, the loss of the Afghanistan war, and the Iraq war, and most importantly, the growing crisis over the oil volcano. Over the month of July all the 'fixes' fail, and the blow out preventer finally is corroded away such that the significant horror of the potential destruction of all the planet's oceans is revealed. An international crisis results which creates the 12/twelve days of torment for Obama's administration as the decision is made to 'nuke the volcano'. Much international uprising occurs as a result. Though all options are bad, this is considered a worse of the worse possible approach. In spite of all global protestations, and the acceleration of the currency collapse, plans are made to go forward with the nuclear 'closing mechanism' {ed note: as TPTB will insist the media call it}. Through the long summer and fall of tension building, and chaos across the planet, preparations are made to drill more wells to place the multiple nuclear warheads to attempt to seal off the volcano. This is even knowing that a 'sure and certain' reaction to the nuclear bombs in the Gulf will be the release of the tensions in the New Madrid fault. In this scenario, environmental problems, including sudden pressure changes in wells across the planet virtually shut down all oil pumping. Further, deformations are occurring planet wide as the tectonic plates react to what British Petroleum {ed note: hmmm....is BP 'afraid' to admit it is a crown corporation? Owned, like all crown corps by the queen of england, an old, poorly dressed woman figure head for a cabal that claims ownership of 1/6th of the planet, and all who live in their 'lands'} had done to the people of the Americas. In this scenario, the schedule works out such that the nuclear 'closing mechanism' is due to be fired off in November. In this scenario, there is a huge, and mostly uncontrolled disapora as millions flee from all the Gulf and south eastern USofA, from Mexico, and many of the Central American countries. In this scenario, most of the populace of all of the Caribbean island want to flee, but are unable due to circumstances. As may be expected, the continent of North America is in social and political chaos all through September and October as the 'nuclear option' is prepared. Millions die globally from the collapse of the currencies effect on food and energy and health care systems. Millions more die from the effects of attempting to flee the environmental disaster that swiftly over takes all of the Gulf region and well beyond (drifting toxic clouds as forecast). Of course the nukes are detonated on November 8th, and over the course of the next

4/four days many of the expected effects manifest including global earthquakes, and continent shifting, as the world of omnihumanity holds its breath awaiting news about the result. In this scenario, the subsequent release period running until January 23rd is due to the largest party the planet has ever seen as omnihumanity releases joy over the successful closing of the volcano, and merely the destruction of the Gulf, the Caribbean, and the eastern Atlantic. During the release period the officials of BP and most governments are tracked down and either re-educated through show trials, or executed. The damage accumulated from the oil volcano, and subsequent diaspora and infrastructure collapse kills 1.289 billion people across the planet.

Or as above, only the nuclear option does not close the oil volcano, and the resulting release of tension period comes from the blood lust unleashed as millions of people track down and slaughter all the banksters, politicians, and corporation executives as may be located. The whole of civilization crumbles in the spasms of rage and helplessness. In this scenario, an earthquake plugs the 'oil volcano' in late March of 2012. The damage accumulated from the oil volcano, and the death of the oceans, and subsequent pollution of the atmosphere kills 1.289 billion people across the planet. More billions die from the collapse of civilization.

Or as above, only the nuclear option does not close the oil volcano, rather it causes the rupture of the ocean floor in the Gulf and vast continental upheaval results. The damage accumulated from the oil volcano, and the death of the oceans, and the continental subsidence kills 5.7 billion people across the planet.

Scenario #4:

As in scenario #1 above regarding the economic and environmental disaster, with the November 8th tipping point being a real or staged outbreak of 'alien wars' following 'violent contact'. The damage accumulated from the oil volcano, and subsequent alien fear diaspora and infrastructure collapse kills 1.289 billion people across the planet.

Scenario #5:

Nothing at all like any of the previous scenarios will occur just because they can be envisioned, so universe will throw something totally unexpected our way (of course, dollar and euro still die, deflation, hyper inflation and the oil volcano still exist) that totally catches us by surprise.... yep likely that will be the case. Still, damage accumulated from the oil volcano, and subsequent diaspora, ocean death, food supplies destruction, and infrastructure collapse kills 1.289 billion people across the planet.

Conclusion: Everyone look the other way.....just.....now!

There have been a few questions as to whether the British Petroleum (BP) oil volcano problem could be the [israeli mistake] in its entirety, given that BP is mostly owned by [zionists]. That certainly makes sense, but the issue is not sense, nor sensibility, but rather linguistics, and sadly I must report that, no, there are required [israeli military] linguistics that still build, albeit slowly. So unless we hire the [israeli military] to come in and nuke BP's oil volcano, it doesn't seem likely that the current events will fulfill those linguistic sets. Of course, hopefully, we are completely pie sodden and wrong about the Israeli's botching a big attack on Iran.

Of course we know, here in the woo-jo that the [dark (hidden) shadow government] of the [national security apparatus] in the [usofa] has the ability to seal off the Gulf of Mexico oil volcano any time it would wish using [earthquake producing weapons/technology]. These [technologies] could/would be used to create an earthquake similar in nature to what struck Haiti, that is to say, a 'slip-strike earthquake'. Such an earthquake would likely set off the New Madrid fault, causing a bit of damage. Such an earthquake likely would have consequences for the planetary plates at some level. But, such an earthquake would seal off the oil volcano now, instead of 18/eighteen months from now.

Of course, having such an earthquake happen so 'conveniently' does expose the abilities of the National Security State here in the USofA....however, what better way to [break the barrier] than in such a positive way? Done carefully, the focus could even be shifted back to the filleting and grilling of the BP (remember British Fucking Crown Corporation Petroleum is the real name) executives and owners. In fact, I think that we could get most of the members of the woo-jo to simply look the other way while Haarp and its cousins fire up for the earthquake.

Note on HPH future: as the Gulf of Mexico oil volcano continues to create problems, including the diaspora for the populace of the USofA, and as the political and economic infrastructure continues to degrade, we expect to reach a point where these reports will no longer be possible to produce. This may be soon.

Expecting events to take a more nasty turn seems a pretty safe planning method in 2010. Since our outcome projections are not good, short or long term, we take this opportunity to once again suggest pie as the first and best way to draw off monkey-mind and allow universe to expose a solution to most any problem. And those problems without solution are also a whole lot more pleasant with a big piece of pie.

Thank you for your support. It is never us here at HPH, nor the software, but rather all those leaky psychic fingers out in the wilds of the internet. May they be blessed with just enough by universe. Remember, universe never provides what we want, only what we need.

I need pie.
